Coil Construction honored with two best of category awards

COLUMBIA, MO (March 23, 2009) — Coil Construction, Inc., was recently honored with Best of Category Awards for both Agriculture and Automobile Dealership in the 2009 Hall of Fame contest sponsored by Varco Pruden Buildings.

The construction firm received a 2009 VP Hall of Fame Award in the agriculture category for its work on Warm Springs Ranch near Boonville in Cooper County, Mo.

Coil also received a 2009 VP Hall of Fame Award for the Perry Nissan Dealership at 201 Nebraska Avenue in Columbia. The 18,000 square-foot dealership has an aluminum composite panel exterior over a pre-engineered structure.

The annual awards competition recognizes outstanding integration of building systems, products and design from builders throughout North America. Selection to the Hall of Fame is based on excellence in design, craftsmanship and construction. With a near record 252 entries, Varco Pruden officials described this year's competition as the strongest in memory.

Coil Construction specializes in institutional, retail, professional and industrial construction throughout the Midwest, with an emphasis on construction projects in Missouri. Varco Pruden is a leading supplier of pre-engineered steel buildings based in Memphis, Tenn.
