Building a better community: Coil Construction hosts free health screenings, media day at new Boone Nifong Medical Plaza

(COLUMBIA, MO) – Coil Construction’s commitment to building a healthier community was on full display Wednesday, Sept. 23, as Coil, along with Boone Hospital, hosted tours of the new Boone Hospital Nifong Medical Plaza and provided free health screenings for all tradesmen on-site.

“Offering health screenings for workers has never been done before on a construction site,” said Randy Coil, president of Coil Construction. “We felt it was the right thing to do for all of our workers and made sense since we are building a great new healthcare facility for our community. Promoting a healthy lifestyle is a key part of that.”

About 15 subcontractor companies and 50 people were expected to participate in the free health screenings, hosted by Coil and Boone Hospital Center. The Know Your Numbers mobile screening van was on-site from 6:30 a.m.-9 a.m. to provide blood work, blood pressure, body composition analysis and a brief health coaching synopsis of patient results.

Boone Hospital Center Board of Trustees and administrators also were on hand for a tour of the new 86,000 square foot facility, located at the intersection of Forum and Nifong in Columbia, Mo.

The first phase of the project includes a facility with convenient care, family practice and a pharmacy on the main level. The lower level will provide physical therapy, lab, radiology, CT, MRI and ultrasound and the Harris Breast Center. The project is scheduled for completion in 2016.

Established in 1975, Coil Construction specializes in institutional, retail, professional and industrial construction throughout the Midwest, with an emphasis on construction projects in Missouri.
