Monnig Industries breaks ground on new headquarters building

GLASGOW, MO (June 13, 2024) – Monnig Industries and Coil Construction held a groundbreaking today for Monnig Industries’ new headquarters building. Community members, members of the Glasgow Chamber of Commerce, representatives from Monnig Industries and Coil were in attendance for the groundbreaking.

“What started as a referral from our banker, and a chance meeting at a barber shop, between me and Randy Coil, has become a monumental effort involving partners in Central Bank, Coil Construction, and state and local officials leading to the drawings you see today and today’s events,” said Jason Monnig, Vice President of Monnig Global. “The importance of this project cannot be overstated. For the first time our Monnig Global team will be able to work in proximity together, allowing for next level collaboration and success. Additionally, this project gives us the opportunity to pay respects to Bob Monnig, our founder, and all the brilliant leaders and galvanizers that came before us. We are excited about this project, not only what it holds for the company but the community as well. Without the dedicated support of our local community, our state officials, and countless other individuals this project would not be possible. We appreciate Coil Construction’s ability to take our vision and turn it into something tangible that fits in so well not only with the company but the city of Glasgow.”

Established in 1960 by Bob Monnig, Monnig Global provides hot-dip galvanizing and freight services throughout the Midwest. With this new headquarters building, we will be able to properly oversee the operations of our five galvanizing plants, Mid Fleet, the real estate holdings, charity organizations, as well as our future growth strategies.

“We are pleased to work with a great family-owned company like Monnig Industries,” said David Coil, president of Coil Construction. “This new headquarters building is an exciting build that will allow them to continue to grow. We are glad to be a partner.”

Established in 1975, Coil Construction specializes in institutional, retail, professional, industrial and healthcare construction throughout the Midwest.
